ELSEVIER

Journal of the Neurological Sciences 142 (1996) 167–168

JOURNAL OF THE NEUROLOGICAL
SCIENCES

Contents of Volume 142

Numbers 1–2 – October 1996

Review article

Proposal of diagnostic criteria for human cysticercosis and neurocysticercosis
O.H. Del Brutto, N.H. Wadia, M. Dumas, M. Cruz, V.C.W. Tsang and P.M. Schantz (Ecuador, India, France, USA) 1

Basic section

Research articles

Histological evidence for cholinergic alteration in the hippocampus following entorhinal cortex lesion
A. Ueki, C. Miwa, K. Oohara and K. Miyoshi (Japan) 7

Transcriptional activation by the androgen receptor in X-linked spinal and bulbar muscular atrophy
H. Nakajima, F. Kimura, T. Nakagawa, D. Furutama, K. Shinoda, A. Shimizu and N. Ohsawa (Japan) 12

Contractile properties of myocardium are altered in dystrophin-deficient mdx mice
J.L. Sapp, J. Bobet and S.E. Howlett (Canada) 17

Age-related ubiquitin-positive granular structures in non-demented subjects and neurodegenerative disorders
E. Iseki, T. Odawara, F. Li, K. Kosaka, T. Nishimura, H. Akiyama and K. Ikeda (Japan) 25

Clinical section

Research articles

Central motor conduction time in patients with periventricular lucencies
M. Oishi, Y. Mochizuki, M. Hara and T. Takasu (Japan) 30

Malignant hyperthermia susceptibility in a patient with concomitant motor neuron disease
K.G. Monsieurs, C. Van Broeckhoven, J.-J. Martin, I. Dehaene and L.G. Heytens (Belgium) 36

Expression of different metallothionein messenger ribonucleic acids in motor cortex, spinal cord and liver from patients with amyotrophic lateral sclerosis
H.G.T. Blaauwgeers, M. Anwar Chand, F.M. Van den Berg, J.M.B. Vianney de Jong and D. Troost (The Netherlands) 39

Autosomal dominant cerebellar ataxia type I: multimodal electrophysiological study and comparison between SCA1 and SCA2 patients
A. Perretti, L. Santoro, B. Lanzillo, A. Filla, G. De Michele, F. Barbieri, G. Martino, M. Ragno, S. Cocozza and G. Caruso (Italy) 45

Usefulness of prolonged video-EEG monitoring in the elderly
M.E. Lancman, C. O'Donovan, D. Dinner, M. Coelho and H.O. Lüders (USA) 54

Chronic inflammatory demyelinating polyneuropathy (CIDP) in diabetics
J.D. Stewart, R. McKelvey, L. Durcan, S. Carpenter and G. Karpati (Canada) 59

Antibody-dependent cell-mediated cytotoxicity (ADCC) in HTLV-I associated myelopathy/tropical spastic paraparesis (HAM/TSP)
K. Fujihara, Y. Itoyama, F. Yu, C. Kubo and I. Goto (Japan) 65

Prognostic factors in mild dystrophinopathies
C. Angelini, M. Fanin, M.P. Freda, F. Martinello, M. Miorin, P. Melacini, G. Siciliano, E. Pegoraro, M. Rosa and G.A. Danieli (Italy) 70

Serial magnetic resonance images in a patient with congenital sensory neuropathy with anhidrosis and complications resembling heat stroke
R. Iwanaga, T. Matsuishi, A. Ohnishi, M. Nakashima, T. Abe, E. Ohtaki, K. Kojima, S. Nagamitsu, K. Ohbu and H. Kato (Japan) 79

Silent period evoked by transcranial magnetic stimulation in unilateral thalamic infarcts
J. Faig and O. Busse (Germany) 85

Ishihara test performance and dementia
R. McCleary, W.R. Shankle, R.A. Mulnard and M.B. Dick (USA) 93

Effect of repetitive stimulation on lateral spreads and F-waves in hemifacial spasm
M. Ishikawa, J. Namiki, M. Takase, T. Ohira, A. Nakamura and S. Toya (Japan) 99

Decreased cerebrospinal fluid levels of substance P in Machado-Joseph disease
T. Matsuishi, T. Sakai, S. Nagamitsu, H. Shoji, N. Ueda, S. Kaneko, T. Kano, H. Iwashita and H. Kato (Japan) 107

Hereditary cerebellar ataxia with Leber's hereditary optic neuropathy mitochondrial DNA 11778 mutation
T. Murakami, S. Mita, M. Tokunaga, H. Maeda, H. Ueyama, T. Kumamoto, M. Uchino and M. Ando (Japan) 111

The cerebrospinal fluid from patients with multiple sclerosis promotes neuronal and oligodendrocyte damage by delayed production of nitric oxide in vitro
B.-G. Xiao, G.-X. Zhang, C.-G. Ma and H. Link (Sweden) 114

The relation of cerebral magnetic resonance signal hyperintensities to Alzheimer's disease
F. Fazekas, P. Kapeller, R. Schmidt, H. Offenbacher, F. Payer and G. Fazekas (Austria) 121

Paramyotonia congenita: genotype to phenotype correlations in two families and report of a new mutation in the sodium channel gene
E. Plassart, B. Eymard, L. Maurs, J.J. Hauw, O. Lyon-Caen, M. Fardeau and B. Fontaine (France) 126

Central pontine myelinolysis at autopsy; a twelve year retrospective analysis
K.L. Newell and B.K. Kleinschmidt-DeMasters (USA) 134

Autosomal dominant cerebellar ataxia type I. Clinical and molecular study in 36 Italian families including a comparison between SCA1 and SCA2 phenotypes
A. Filla, G. De Michele, G. Campanella, A. Perretti, L. Santoro, L. Serlenga, M. Ragno, O. Calabrese, I. Castaldo, G. De Joanna and S. Cocozza (Italy) 140

Case reports

Creutzfeldt-Jakob disease in Oman: report of two cases
E.M. Scrimgeour, P.R. Chand, K. Kenny and P. Brown (Oman, USA) 148

Fluoxetine and restless legs syndrome
R. Bakshi (USA) 151

Short reports

Chronic progressive myelopathy: diagnostic analysis of cases with and without sensory involvement
D.R. Jeffery (USA) 153

Central nervous system involvement in amyloid A type amyloidosis
K. Arakawa, J. Kira and T. Kobayashi (Japan) 157

Occurrence of Borrelia garinii oculo-neuroborreliosis in Japan
M. Yukitake, Y. Kuroda, K. Kurohara, M. Matsui, A. Yasuda, Y. Matsui, S. Oono, K. Kimura and E. Isogai (Japan) 160

Author Index (Vol. 142) 162

Subject Index (Vol. 142) 165

Contents of Volume 142 167